

Funded by the West Harlem Development Corporation

Photo Illustration by David Brann / Senior Staff Photographer

BUILDING WEST HARLEM | The West Harlem Development Corporation has doled out $2 million in funds to local neighborhood organizations.

BY SPECTATOR STAFF
May 11, 1:19am

In March, the West Harlem Development Corporation donated $2 million in grants to 83 local neighborhood organizations. The funding, which came from Columbia, was promised in the 2009 Community Benefits Agreement, which the University signed in the wake of its Manhattanville campus expansion.

Spectator has profiled a number of the groups that benefited. Read the profiles here:

Creative Arts Workshop gives students arts employment with WHLDC grant \(Creative Arts Workshop for Kids\), April 9

With \$42,500 grant, local nonprofit PA'LANTE to expand tenant advocacy efforts \(PA'LANTE Harlem\), April 11

Mama Foundation to expand gospel classes with grant \(Mama Foundation\), April 15

In Manhattanville, plans to stop teen violence through art \(Young Empowered Artists of Harlem\), April 29

West Harlem environmental group works to transition to cleaner heating oils \(WE ACT for Environmental Justice\), May 2

Tags: West Harlem Local Development Corporation West Harlem Development Corporation WHLDC

Tweet  +1  Like

Your name

Comment *

Lines and paragraphs break automatically.

More information about text formats ?

Make this comment anonymous
Your username will not be displayed if checked

CAPTCHA
This question is for testing whether you are a human visitor and to prevent automated spam submissions.

Math question ***
2 + 2 =

Solve this simple math problem and enter the result. E.g. for 1+3, enter 4.

Save

SPECTRUM

Lions fall to Cal St. Fullerton, face New Mexico Saturday

By Myles Simmons
Jun 1, 10:24am

Taking the field for just the second time since winning the Ivy Championship May 4, the Lions (27-19) fell 4-1 to No. 5 Cal St. Fullerton (49-8) in their first... Read More

REGIONALS

SPEC ALUMS

Come to Spectator's alumni reception

By Audrey Greene
May 31, 7:45pm

Calling all Spectator alumni! If you've been missing Spec lately, or if you want the inside scoop on what this year's Managing Board has in store for the fall, then... Read More

President Bollinger discusses free press and national security on 'Bloomberg'

By Emma Finder
May 31, 4:07pm

In case you missed it, everybody's favorite University President with luscious locks made an appearance on yesterday's "Bloomberg." Lee Bollinger discussed the Obama administration's vigilance with the press regarding leaks. "This... Read More

BOLL-ING OVER THE BALANCE

1 OF 3 NEXT >

GreyStone

Furnished and Unfurnished
Student Rentals

$500 AMEX for New CU
Tenants Through 7/1

COLUMBIA SUMMER ARTS

COURSES IN
FILM
THEATRE
VISUAL ARTS
WRITING

THIS WEEK IN THE EYE

Culture Clash

Declare your major yet? Meredith Foster debunks the myth of the humanities-science divide. Check it out in this week's Eye.

THIS WEEK IN HISTORY

1950: A nose for news

A promotional piece by Time Magazine reflected upon the "reporters of today" who cover news from the Holland Tunnel to the South Pole.